Plane Wreckage Lies On Rugged California Mountain

When rescuers struggled up the rocky slopes of White Mountain, 12 miles south of Gorham, Calif., this is how the fragments of a Western Airlines plane lay. Eleven persons, including three Canadian women, were killed when the airliner hit the snow-capped mountain. Rescuers were unable to bring down the burned remains of the victims. This photo was taken from the air.

Few Hours Left For Lewis To Call Off Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — With less than 48 hours to go, John L. Lewis played a silent hand today on the question of obeying a United States court order against another soft coal strike heralded to begin at midnight Wednesday.

Disobedience could land the United Mine Workers' chief in jail—indeed, for contempt of court.

Already, more than 38,000 soft coal diggers have laid down their tools in seven states, and predictions of widespread industrial paralysis were heard on all sides. It was learned that President Truman specifically instructed Interior Secretary J. A. Krug to obtain Monday's court order restraining Lewis until Nov. 27 from "coercing, instigating, inducing or encouraging" the miners to strike—either directly or indirectly—or otherwise to breach his contract with the government.

The court order in effect calls upon Lewis and his 400,000 miners to keep the pits operating for at least eight more days. Then, a week from tomorrow, a hearing will be held to determine whether an injunction shall be issued outlawing any strike as long as the government operates the mines.

It is a question, however, whether Lewis could be held in contempt if the miners just quit without any word or counsel from him.

Fire Stalls Pre-Fab Production

Marking the end, for the time being, of an ambitious pre-fabricated housing plant at Oakland, Calif., was this six-alarm fire which burned the $250,000 factory to the ground. A co-owner, who said the plant was ready to begin production at rate of one house per day, said he believed this and another fire which destroyed plans and records in August, were deliberately set.

New Health Regulations For All Eating Places

Two new sets of regulations which will protect the public health and appetite in all eating and drinking establishments and which will improve the minimum living standards in B.C. industrial camps were approved today by order-in-council of the provincial government.

Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson said the new regulations would come into effect next Jan. 1.

The new regulations respecting eating and drinking establishments cover all places of public refreshment from beer parlors to church bazaars and govern all service but that in the home.

They are a compendium of old and new minimum standard requirements respecting sterilization of dishes, glasses, cups and cutlery; serving, storing, lighting and cleanliness of establishments generally.

Under the regulations a medical health officer may forbid a proprietor of an eating or drinking house from employing an employee who is suspected of having a communicable disease. Medical health officers are required to inspect each eating or drinking place at least twice yearly.

TO TAKE SAMPLES

He is also authorized to take food samples for laboratory testing for bacteriological examination.

"All openings to the outer air shall be effectively screened unless other effective means are provided to prevent the entrance of flies," the new regulations say.

According to a health and welfare department statement the B.C. industrial camps, generally well above average already in comforts and conveniences, now will have a clear-cut set of regulations setting out minimum requirements for housing, living space, sanitation and general health conditions.

The camps will be compelled in future to provide, among other things, sheet, pillow slips and bedspreads, as well as blankets. Gone is the day of the traveling blanket and the spreading of infections which resulted.

"It is a remarkable thing what white sheets and pillow-cases will do towards encouraging men, miners, loggers and so on, to keep their quarters clean and tidy," one of the statistical experts of the department of health and welfare said. "Private industry has already discovered that, and many camps have introduced improvements in accommodation entirely on their own initiative."

Pigeon Attacks Baby Sleeping In Buggy

A tame pigeon which showed persistency in its attack on the sleeping three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyp Mireau, 1411 Harrop on the Esplanade, has been killed after lacerating the baby's face in several places and pecking at his tongue until he made it bleed.

Mrs. Mireau was working in the back of their new veteran's home and had left the baby sleeping on the veranda. Cries from the baby, obviously of pain, caused her to rush to the front where she found the pigeon pecking the baby's face and saw blood oozing from the baby's mouth from pecks on the tongue.

Mrs. Mireau drove the pigeon away but half an hour later she saw it fly to the baby's buggy again. Mr. Mireau, who was at home at this time, killed the pigeon with a stick.

More Frost Due As Chilly Spell Reaches Island

Colder weather, with the glass dropping to 25 degrees—seven degrees of frost—tonight, was the forecast from Weatherman William Burton today from Gonzales Hill Observatory. Greater Victoria awoke this morning to a snow-cloaked world. The forecast for the next 36 hours does not specifically predict any more snow, it reading overcast today and cloudy tonight and tomorrow, with winds 15 miles an hour from the north.

Yesterday's forecast of colder weather coming resulted in cars pouring into service stations for anti-freeze.

"It was a madhouse here for a while," said one station attendant. An all-night station operator said the staff put in a hectic night putting anti-freeze in cars.

Another station reported having to fix up a couple of cars with frozen radiators early today. The maximum temperature for tonight is forecast at 32—the freezing point. Last night the minimum was 27 and the maximum 37. On the grass the lowest reading was 26.

Precipitation yesterday amounted to one and one-tenth inches, the one-tenth being wet snow.

Mr. Burton's records show that the current cold spell is not a record-beater by any means. The minimum temperature on the night of Nov. 8 last year was 25 degrees. The snow is not unusual for this month of the year, his records also show.

Other points on the island, which was in the path of the northwest week-end Monday storm, received more snow than Victoria.

At Jordan River today there was three inches of snow at the B.C. Electric reservoir. At Brentwood today it was snowing lightly. There was two inches or more in some of the higher parts of Saanich.

No reports have been received of ice being strong enough to skate on in the lakes and water holes on Victoria's outskirts. Spectacle Lake, in the Malahat hills, is expected to be the first place where persons will be able to skate and Provincial Police urge those planning on this sport in that locality to be very careful as the lake is a very deep one.

At up-island towns of Nanaimo, Courtenay, Union Bay and Port Alberni at 11:30 this morning light snow was reported. Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus drivers encountered no trouble in navigating the island highways and are returning on schedule, the traffic department reported.

1 Dead As Storm Hits Mainland

VANCOUVER (CP) — Storms which swept British Columbia in the last 24 hours, reaching blizzard proportions in the Kootenays, today had abated, leaving one man dead, many schools closed and traffic and wire services snarled.

In Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley, Dudley Goddard, 60, collapsed and died after struggling through heavy snow. The body was found a mile from his home. On the north shore of Burrard Inlet, North Vancouver police searched for Roy L. Pike, 18, missing since he left for a hike up Grouse Mountain Saturday. The mountain area was storm-swept Monday.

SNOW FIVE FEET DEEP

After the worst blizzard in 26 years, conditions in the Kootenays were more normal today with clouds clearing and little snow falling. Nearly two feet of snow fell in Nelson, and in rural districts the fall was from two to five feet.

Government snowplows battled to clear snow-choked roads, badly drifted in the face of a 25-mile-an-hour wind which swept the countryside Monday.

Only serious accident reported was at Corra Linn, near Nelson, when a tree smashed the hood of an automobile. Edward Lang, the driver, and Mrs. Lang suffered cuts and bruises.

Northern British Columbia was stormbound, with Prince George and Prince Rupert isolated since Monday when wire services, both telephone and telegraph, failed.

B.C. Population Passes 1,000,000

Population of B.C. has passed the 1,000,000 mark, making an increase of 145,474 in the past two years, according to the latest figures released by the ration administration of the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

Ration Book No. 6, issued in September, went to 1,019,745 men, women and children. Book No. 5, issued in October, 1944, went to 874,271 people.

The increase in population on Vancouver Island was 25,338, rising from 152,428 to 177,766.

Victoria city was up from 55,616 to 61,091.

Half the increase in B.C.'s population was noted in Vancouver city, where a total of 376,839 books were issued, compared with 306,463 in October, 1944.

The ration administration stressed that these figures represent book distribution only. People from other parts of Canada who happened to be on the coast picked up their books while here, and the same thing would apply to B.C. people visiting other provinces.

Yarrows Lay Keel For New C.N. Ship Early Next Month

Laying of the keel for the $3,000,000, 5,000-ton "Prince" passenger ship to be built by Yarrows Ltd., for Canadian National Steamships will take place in the first week of December, Yarrows officials reported today.

Alan Cormack, Yarrows engineer, said orders for materials were being filled very satisfactorily.

The coastal vessel will be built and launched at No. 2 yard, while completion of the ship will be done at the No. 1 yard. It is expected she will be ready to enter service on the B.C. coast by the summer of 1948.

N. Vancouver Youth Charged In Murder

VANCOUVER (CP) — Donald Russel, 18-year-old North Vancouver youth sought since the shotgun slaying of Robert Frederick Teoport, 39-year-old handy man, near Deep Cove, B.C., last Thursday, has been charged with murder.

The charge was laid today by provincial police after a five-day investigation and followed an open verdict returned Monday night at a coroner's inquest here.

Search for the suspect centred in Vancouver today, following reports he had been seen here, and police also investigated a report at Hope, B.C., east of here, that a youthful hitchhiker, answering Russell's description, had been injured in an automobile accident there.

False Pretenses Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — John R. Fagginsbotham, 51-year-old Nanaimo optometrist, arrested Monday by detectives Peter Lamont and George Monger of the city police was charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Canada, U.S. Health Departments Condemn Vancouver Water Supply

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian public carriers and the United States Health Department have been notified by the Dominion that Vancouver's water supply is unfit for human consumption, a Health Department official said today.

He was commenting on a Vancouver dispatch which said Monday night that the United States Public Health Service had ordered the Great Northern Railway not to take Vancouver's unchlorinated water on its trains for cooking or drinking purposes. Great Northern trains run between Seattle and Vancouver.

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies and the Shipping Federation of Canada have been notified by the Dominion of the Vancouver water situation, but the official did not know whether the Canadian carriers had banned use of the water.

Notification by the Dominion to the companies was another development in the long-standing dispute among Vancouver citizens

Labor Party Dissidents In Britain To Continue Fight

LONDON (CP) — Official lists disclosed today that 160 Labor members of Parliament failed to take part in Monday night's 353-to-40 vote of confidence in their government's foreign policy.

Fraser Wighton, Reuter's political correspondent, reported that Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet were "understood to be disturbed" at the results of the confidence vote. Wighton said the next step is likely to come with a forthcoming meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party, consisting of all Labor M.P.'s, when the question likely is to be raised of reconstituting the party discipline system suspended some time ago.

100 DID NOT VOTE

Allowing for those who were ill or otherwise unable to be in the Commons—despite the urgent summons issued by the government to all its supporters—considerably more than 100 M.P.'s must have abstained when Foreign Secretary Bevin's policies were put to a vote.

"This is a disturbingly high proportion for the government," said the Press Association, noting that 230 Laborites voted for the government along with 104 Conservatives, seven Liberals, six National Liberal Party members and six Independents.

While government supporters said the 353-to-40 vote was a striking demonstration to the world that Britain backs her Foreign Secretary, critics pointed to the abstentions as evidence the Labor Party policy split is far from healed.

"One danger which it is impossible for the government to overlook," said the Press Association, "is that this revolt may recur. There never has been anything to justify predictions that it was all fizzling out."

R. H. S. Crossman, youthful editor-legislator who touched off

Monday's heated debate in the Commons, said the so-called "rebel" group in the Commons still would use every "constitutional" method to strive for the foreign policy it feels Britain should adopt.

Judgment Soon On Slasher Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal today reserved judgment on the appeal of Ronald George Sears, 18-year-old Windsor, Ont., youth convicted on the "slasher slayings" in that city last year. Sears is under sentence to be hanged Dec. 3 for the knife slaying of Hugh Blackwood. Price in August, 1945.

Lift Wheat Quotas

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister MacKinnon announced today the removal of all quotas on the amount of wheat which prairie farmers may deliver to their country elevators.

1 Killed, 18 Hurt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One man was killed, 10 were burned seriously and 18 others injured, the navy said today, in an explosion in the boiler-room of the Essex-class aircraft carrier Antietam at Hunter's Point.

Ratify Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All three Maritime unions involved today on ratification of separate agreements which would end the seven-week U.S. west coast shipping strike—possibly by Wednesday morning. Officials said, however, that an additional two days probably would be required to get ships moving.

Want Gas Freed

LONDON (Reuters) — Some 125 Members of Parliament, headed by two Conservatives, today asked for abolition of gasoline rationing in Britain, claiming it was a "hindrance to postwar recovery" and "encourages widespread dishonesty." The members, including Conservatives, National Liberals and Independents, asked their request be debated in the Commons.

Drawing On Credits

LONDON (CP) — Britain has drawn $600,000,000 of her $3,750,000,000 credit from the United States loan, Glenville Hall, financial secretary to the treasury, told the Commons today.

Mr. Hall told another questioner that in the 10 months ended Oct. 31, 1946, Britain had spent $61,000,000 for hire or purchase of U.S. moving pictures.

Immediate $10 Increase Requested For Pensioners

The provincial government today was asked by a delegation of 17 persons representing various labor, church, pension and other organizations, to increase by $10 a month immediately the cost of living bonus for old-age pensioners.

Premier John Hart, according to one of the delegates, reported he was fully aware of the plight of the old-age pensioners and that Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson, who is going to Ottawa shortly for a meeting at which the old-age pension would be discussed, would recommend to the federal government pension reform along the lines suggested by the delegation.

"The entire question of old-age pensions has been the object of procrastination and the evasion of responsibilities between the provincial and the federal authorities," a brief submitted by the delegates said.

"The cost of living has drastically increased since these supplementary bonuses were added to the basic pension rate," the brief said, noting that the present statutory pension was $20 per month supplemented by a Dominion bonus of $5 and a provincial bonus of $5.

The brief suggested the province immediately add $10 to the bonus it was paying to prove "its avowed intention of bettering the deplorable conditions of our aged citizens."

SOUGHT FOR CHRISTMAS CHEQUE

The brief asks the $10 bonus increase be included in the December cheque.

"Using this example as proof of their sincerity, the provincial authorities immediately use every effort to have the federal authorities make a similar addition of the $10 bonus per month to their bonus payment," the brief suggested.

It also asked that these payments remain in full force and effect until such times as a permanent contributory retirement annuities plan is enacted."

A further resolution was presented, representing a composite of resolutions submitted to a meeting held here recently.

This resolution said that since no contributory old age retirement annuities had been established the time is long overdue for revision of the Old Age Pensions Act. The resolution said that "large numbers of workers were finding it more and more difficult to secure employment after reaching the age of 60 thereby leaving a gap of many years before reaching the pensionable age, causing a considerable amount of distress amongst people in this category."

The resolution suggested the following changes:

1. Payment of pensions at 60 years of age.
2. Abolition of the means test.
3. A minimum of $50 pension subject to review every three months in line with the increase in the cost of living.
4. The same pension be made applicable to blind persons.
5. That the practice of combining the "Parents Maintenance Act" with the Old Age Pensions Act be discontinued.
6. That the practice of placing liens on the homes of the recipients of pensions be discontinued.
7. That the pensioner be permitted to visit outside of Canada for at least 90 days in any one year without affecting the pension.
8. That the pension be made payable retroactive to the date the pensionable age is reached.
9. That a supplementary allowance be paid to a wife or husband until they reach the pensionable age and in case of dependents until they reach self-supporting age.

Admiral, Firemen And S.P.C.A. Come To Cat's Rescue

A Victoria cat today owes its return to the warmth of its home fire to the combined services of an admiral, the navy fire department and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Capt. James Barr of the S.P.C.A.'s Victoria branch, said today the branch office received the report of a treed cat at Macaulay Camp at 4.30 Monday afternoon.

The help of a chimney sweep was first enlisted, but he could not reach the animal, clinging 50 feet up the tree.

Finally, Capt. Barr called Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., commanding officer, Pacific coast, and asked if the navy could do anything to help. The admiral's answer was the quick dispatch of the navy fire department to the scene.

A semi-successful attempt was

Italians Foresee Harsh Terms

NAPLES, Italy (CP)—Italians, anxiously awaiting the final text of the Italian peace treaty, are generally reconciled to the fact it will not be lenient, but concerned that the settlement may be far harsher than they feel their actions warrant or they can stand.

There is a strong undercurrent of indignation in Rome and Naples the way Italian case was handled by the Paris Conference and there is little hope among Italians the Council of Foreign Ministers, writing the final text, will be able to agree to give Italy a break.

Prime Minister de Gasperi, head of the powerful Christian Democrat Party, summed up the opinion of a broad section of Italians when he warned that harsh terms would leave Italy with a rankling sense of injustice.

The cat was reached but jumped out of its rescuers' arms to the tree again and quickly went further up and beyond reach.

The navy went home for the night, but true to its tradition to "see things through," was back early this morning when a final attempt was made to rescue the cat.

Most Italians to whom I talked said they felt strongly Italy's participation in the war on the Allied side after the armistice of September, 1943, had not been taken into sufficient consideration by the peacemakers.

To take away Italy's colonies, drastically reduce her armed forces, burden her with comparatively heavy reparations, and slice off part of her territory, they said, was no way to treat a co-belligerent.

and, this time, wholly successful attempt was made to rescue the cat.

Last seen by Capt. Barr in its home, the cat was curled up before the warm fire of its master, W. H. Walker, purring its contentment over the satisfactory conclusion to the adventure.

No Cut In Butter Before End Of 1946

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided the present individual butter ration of approximately six ounces a person weekly can be maintained until the end of the year, the Canadian Press learned authoritatively Monday.

The supply position beyond that date, however, still is too obscure to determine whether or not a ration cut will be necessary and the butter stock and production picture will be reviewed again as the year-end approaches.

Authoritative sources reported the supply position was running close to the margin where a reduction would be essential.

Sask. Debt Cut

REGINA (CP)—Reduction of Saskatchewan's net public debt by approximately $70,562,000 since the C.C.F. assumed provincial government office in July, 1944, was announced Monday by Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines.

He said Saskatchewan formerly had the highest per capita debt in Canada, but now compared favorably with Alberta, British Columbia and New Brunswick.

Foreign Ministers Make Ground With Trieste; Face Veto Trouble

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
NEW YORK (AP)—Spurred by Russian concessions, the great power Foreign Ministers scored major progress today in breaking their long peace treaty deadlock on control of Trieste.

But they evidently were headed for trouble over proposals to restrict voluntarily the use of the veto in the United Nations Security Council.

A series of swift moving developments Monday and Tuesday night brought the brightest prospects yet for early and final agreement on the Italian and other former German satellite peace treaties, but simultaneously dimmed the outlook for any substantial agreements by Russia on the veto issue.

The main developments were these:

1. In a Big Four meeting Monday night (Britain, the United States, Russia and France) Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia finally yielded to U.S. British insistence that the proposed free territory of Trieste should be under a United Nations governor armed with strong powers to protect its independence.

2. In an earlier Big Five meeting (the Big Four plus China) Mr. Molotov, after some objection, agreed to consider proposals for voluntarily restricting use of the veto and to discuss them in future Big Five meetings.

3. At Lake Success, L.I., a committee of the U.N. Assembly indirectly approved this procedure by voting 38 to 6 to side-track its own veto debate until the Foreign Ministers had time to act. However, a Soviet spokesman told the committee his government was flatly opposed to any changes in the veto system and objected to all Assembly proposals aimed at modifying it. Diplomatic authorities interpreted this as meaning that Mr. Molotov probably would reject all Big Five suggestions for voluntarily restricting use of the veto, although he might go with some British, U.S. and Chinese recommendations aimed not so much at the veto as at speeding up the work of the Security Council.

The next meeting of the Big Four on the Italian peace treaty and Trieste is scheduled for tomorrow, when they also may take up, at least briefly, the question of Germany. They have an agreement to begin talks on Germany about Nov. 20.

Russia's stand in favor of unmodified retention of the veto system in the Security Council was stated to the Assembly's Political Committee by Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko. It constituted no new Russian policy, but coming so soon after Molotov had agreed to discuss the question with the other Foreign Ministers, it aroused unusual interest.

APOSTOLI WINS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fred Apostoli, 160, San Francisco, former middleweight boxing champion making a comeback, outpointed Frank Augustain, 160, Los Angeles, in a 10-round fight here Monday night. Apostoli earned a shade in a tough fight by hard hitting to the body. He knocked down his rival in the fourth round.

New Australia Gold Mine So Rich All Ore Constantly Under Guard

By WILLIAM STEWART SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—A prospecting group of 11 Italians and the Australian hotelkeeper who financed them, have struck it rich after five years' work near the former gold-mining town of Day Dawn, Western Australia.

Newspaper reports say the men already have dug more than $300,000 worth of gold from a single shaft and are taking turns standing guard over their pile of valuable ore and workings in which gold is visible in lumps.

They are reported to have formed a syndicate called "Day Dawn Options." While making arrangements for crushing the 1,000 tons of ore mined in the last year, they are guarding it in the strong room of abandoned mine buildings behind 12 padlocks.

The ghost town of Day Dawn 300 miles north of Perth had 7,000 inhabitants in 1918 when it was booming. It now has 20.

The story told of the men who made the Day Dawn strike is that they paid $16,000 five years ago for a lease on some abandoned property that was part of a mine once called "The Great Fingall." They started to work ground on which two previous operators had failed and which was described as "not worth two bob."

The Italians, who had been prospecting in Australia for from five to 25 years, kept at work for more than a year, ran out of money, and were re-financed by Jack Green, hotelkeeper and grazier, who now is their partner.

Sydney Residents Collecting Oysters

SIDNEY.—Collecting oysters originally planted by the Japanese and which have not been harvested since prewar days has proved to be a profitable business for Capt. Harry Way, who is clearing up to $400 on every trip made between Salt Spring Island and Victoria.

The oysters have multiplied to such an extent that they now can be found all along the coast and on the shores of the Saanich peninsula. They are usually collected when the tides are low at night.

Local residents who are fond of sea-food have also gone in for oyster collecting.

Butter Destined For Cumberland Goes Astray

CUMBERLAND.—Merchants here believe that butter destined for this northeastern part of the island is being "hijacked" off the wharves in Vancouver and sold to the American market, where it brings a higher price.

The Cumberland Board of Trade has complained to shipping companies that not enough care is taken in Vancouver to see that freight goes to the right consignees.

Residents in this district were short of butter for a week when two Cumberland food firms reported the loss of three 50-pound boxes of butter.

War Veterans Graduate As Loggers, Fishermen

At a Nanaimo wharf students at the C.V.T. school of fishing get a lesson in the care of boats and equipment. In the foreground, Dick Fanning shows students over his gill netter while tied alongside, Chick Ward explains the gear aboard his boat used for salmon trolling and cod fishing.

NANAIMO.—Scores of trained men for British Columbia's two leading industries have graduated from the Canadian Vocational Training Centre in Nanaimo, which concentrates in giving veterans courses in logging and commercial fishing.

Nanaimo C.V.T. Centre instructors reveal that during the past year the centre had turned out 165 power-saw operators, while since last March 36 veterans had graduated in commercial fishing and the majority of them were now operating boats on their own.

With regard to the men who have graduated in logging, Jack McCready, supervisor, said: Seventy per cent of these men are still in the woods, and not one has been hurt yet."

McCready explained that the eight-week course was divided into three sections. The first portion consists of lectures in the maintenance and overhaul of the electric and gasoline engines which power the chain saws, sharpening and setting saws, first aid and safety measures. Next, students are taken to the proving ground, where under instruction they learn to fell small trees.

The last three weeks were spent in the bush, working on an actual operation, he said, and the class was divided into two sections, one working on the electrically-driven saw, and the other, several hundred feet away, with the portable gas-powered saw.

As in the case of the logging school, students of commercial fishing spend the first part of their course in the classroom—taking lectures on elementary navigation, latest fishing methods, the conservation and preservation of fish. They are also taught how to mend nets and make their own spoons for line fishing.

Chick Ward and Dick Fanning, trolling and gill-netting instructors respectively, say that a qualified commercial fisherman could be turned out in nine short weeks.

REAL SMART
"The boys are real smart," the instructors said. "They learn more during the time they are here than they would in two years by trial and error."

They pointed out that the students were divided into groups of four and made to put their classroom knowledge to practical use aboard ship.

Some of the veterans enrolled in the course already own boats, which are overhauled and put in first-class running order at the school.

In the off-season, students have an agreement with the government whereby they tag cod for biological purposes.

Manchesters Buses Stoned By Strikers
MANCHESTER, Eng. (CP)—Buses manned by volunteers to-day were stoned by strikers surrounding the depot where 5,000 transport workers in an unofficial strike have paralyzed this city's transport services.

Bricks crashed through the windows of buses leaving the depot while men jumped aboard and grappled with the drivers. Extra police were called to control the growing army of pickets.

Late Monday the strikers again refused to return to work until driver James Christie—whose dismissal started the strike—is reinstated.

No British Plans

Ford Of Canada Reports $1,700,000 Loss
WINDSOR, Ont.—The Ford Motor Company of Canada Ltd., lost $1,700,000 in the first nine months of 1946 and expects to lose $2,000,000 during the year, the company said Monday in a letter sent to shareholders.

Douglas B. Greig, president, said in the letter the loss was suffered despite the fact Ford made 60,545 cars and trucks during the nine months—50 per cent of the total of cars and trucks made in Canada. He added that increases in wages at Ford will add another $3,000,000 in labor costs during 1947.

Walker, Symbol Of 'Mad Twenties,' Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—James J. Walker, 65, former New York mayor and one of the city's most colorful personalities, died at 6:25 p.m. Monday, in Doctors' Hospital.

He had been taken to the hospital early Sunday suffering from a blood clot on the brain and had been in a coma since. He had been in ill health for several months.

Last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were performed for him in the hospital Sunday.

Mr. Walker's life mirrored the times and the city in which he lived.

When elected mayor in November, 1925, after a career as a lawyer and Democratic state assemblyman and senator, he set out to put New York City on the map. His silk topper and suave manner became a symbol of the "mad twenties"—the age of prohibition and get-rich-quick.

He instigated the ticker-tape parades and lavish receptions for Charles A. Lindbergh and other heroes of the time. He was a gay sports fencer, a first-nighter, a ringside fan. He was orthodox only in his role as a politician feeling a debt to the party which had lifted him to power.

Dapper, witty and urbane, he was a typical "wisecracker," the personification of Broadway, until the Hofstadter-Seabury investigation sent him into voluntary exile on the other side of the Atlantic.

COMPLAINED OF TREATMENT

Even when he resigned on Sept. 1, 1932, in the midst of a removal hearing and sailed for Europe voicing the complaint that he had not been dealt with fairly, his tremendous popularity waned only a few degrees. But it declined with increasing rapidity as the ensuing years failed to bring the triumphant return Broadway had confidently expected.

The Seabury hearings were before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had just accepted the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. The proceedings centred around the $1,000,000 accounts of the fugitive Russell T. Sherwood. Seabury contended the accounts really represented Walker's hidden assets.

Two and a half years later, however, Walker announced he was "broke" when he was hailed before a London chancery court by creditors.

In reporting on the results of his inquiry, Seabury said the Walker regime was "characterized by inefficiency, waste and corruption."

Walker was married twice. His first wife, Janet Allen Walker, whom he married in 1912, obtained a Florida divorce in 1933 on the grounds of desertion. In the same year he married Betty Compton, former actress at Cannes, France.

The second marriage ended in divorce in 1940. Miss Compton died in 1944.

In 1940 Mayor La Guardia appointed Walker impartial chair-

EVERYONE'S PROBLEM

AMONG THE INNUMERABLE VITAL factors involved in the soft coal crisis in the United States, one point assumes cardinal importance in the international field. If the rest of the 400,000 miners follow the lead of some who have already downed tools, the industry of the world's greatest producer nation faces paralysis to a degree that can be determined only by the length of the shutdown. The influence of such action would spread to all countries within the orbit of the free economy practiced by our neighbors, and the settlement of the issue would be a matter of direct concern to Canadians as well as to other peoples more fully dependent on the smooth functioning of the United States industrial machine. Without adequate coal supplies the U.S. cannot discharge the responsibilities which her pre-eminent position has bestowed upon her.

It is not the province of any outside organ to suggest the manner in which the critical situation should be solved, but it is a problem which countries removed from the centre of the disturbance cannot ignore. And to labor, in all nations which adhere to the principles of free enterprise, the repercussions will be of lasting import. A final showdown appears in the offing between John L. Lewis, boss of the miners, and the administration which has yielded largely to his earlier demands. The technicalities of the new order by which the bushy-browed figure may or may not be lodged in jail, should an industry-wide strike begin tomorrow night, are the spectacular developments. But the importance of the issue runs much deeper. The implications are that Mr. Lewis, in his latest manoeuvre, has overstepped the limits within which his interests could remain and retain a measure of public sympathy. Hostility among the populace could easily pave the way for anti-labor legislation which might destroy the worthwhile gains made by trades unionism in many fields. Nor is that possibility remote. As one American commentator puts it:

"The new Republican Congress will undoubtedly try to be sensible and reasonable in enacting new labor legislation, if only for political reasons. But if another coal strike is pulled off, there might be a concerted public demand for Congress to throw the book at strikes and strikers."

This is a condition highly probable in a country which is tired of industrial dislocations that punish the public rather than management. Nor are people unmindful of the manner in which the Lewis lead might again touch off a wave of strikes by other unions intent on securing gains equivalent to any that may be achieved for the miners as a result of the present dispute. The fact that wage advances from recent negotiations have largely been swallowed up by higher living costs seems generally accepted. To unorganized occupations not enjoying that improvement in pay, the inflationary character of these complementary moves is painfully apparent.

THERE MUST BE ENTERPRISE

BECAUSE DOMINION GOVERNMENT securities are being taken up with alacrity by the Canadian public with the promise of 2% per cent interest—guaranteed by all the resources of the nation—private enterprise, in this case the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, is entitled to pat itself on the back on its ability to float a refunding issue of $33,000,000 with the expectation of its prompt absorption. This concern has just gone onto the open market with bonds to yield 3.25 per cent. Not that the most canny investor has the least trepidation in putting his money to work for an organization which has proved its business integrity; but the fact remains that, since the national treasury bases its guarantee on the nation's present and potential wealth, it is not unnatural that the average citizen would prefer to take lower earnings when the public till does the paying out than to take a "flutter" in the open market.

In other words, the Canadian investor evidently has no doubt whatsoever in the potentialities of the B.C.E.R., either in the future of its expansion under private operation—since it has adopted progress as its watchword—or in its conformity with modern trends in mutually-beneficial methods of management. Inherent in the principles of its refunding policy, moreover, is this concern's desire to take the temperature of the investing public and, at the same time, demonstrate to its shareholders its practical faith in the economic stability and prospects of the province in which its enterprise is operating. And the fact that the retirement of this $33,000,000 of bonded indebtedness and its re-sale at a yield of 3.25 per cent will save its shareholders something like $225,000 annually, the company's customers, too, will expect to share commensurately in the economy thus effected.

The moral to which it is entitled to point with more than a modicum of pride in this matter, of course, is that private enterprise as far as the company in question is concerned is demonstrating its enterprise—an initiative, by the way, which Mr. Herbert Morrison told the people of Britain a few months ago would discourage any attempt on his government's part to interfere with orthodox industrial operation. It can be argued another way: If private enterprise desires to safeguard its reputation and branch out, in its own and in the public's interest, it is incumbent upon it to give efficient return while maintaining a sensible relationship between profits, costs, and the price of its retail services. So long as the B.C.E.R. accepts and discharges this obligation it will be assured of public support.

RAILWAYS AND WATER

VANCOUVER'S UNCHLORINATED water has trickled into the news again. The United States Public Health Service has forbidden the Great Northern Railway to take it in its present "pure" state onto its trains for drinking or cooking purposes. The company's solicitor has so advised the City Council; and according to a C.P. dispatch from the mainland city, this country's railways operating trains and ships out of Vancouver are expected to conform to the G.N.R. decree.

While this new development will be a blow to those stalwarts who succeeded in getting the wartime chlorination order lifted in Vancouver, the Great Northern's decision should be noted by those in this city who still argue that our "Adam's ale" is being shamefully and dangerously contaminated by the chemical admixture.

Since Vancouver's noted authority, Dr. E. A. Cleveland, has warned Victoria against abandoning its present safeguards in respect of its own water, our local "experts" have become less vocal. But in view of the Anti-Chlorination League's reported assertion that some 20,000 people of this community are opposed to continued chlorination, the City Council naturally felt obliged to submit a plebiscite at the forthcoming civic elections.

It is nevertheless to be hoped that Canada's two transcontinental railway systems will not be compelled to take action against Victoria's water for the same reason as that on which the American Great Northern Railway has based its decree for Vancouver's unchlorinated commodity. This community can avoid undesirable publicity by voting against any change in the present policy.

TRADE LANES ARE OPEN

AN INCREASE OF $34,719,903 IN THE value of exports from British Columbia ports to world markets during the first half of this year over the total for the similar period in 1945 tells its own story of opportunity in Canada's Pacific province. The recent official report of the provincial Department of Trade and Industry outlining this increase, be it noted, attributes the major growth in trade to the amount of agricultural and farm production which has been shipped out. How much of that originated west of the Rockies is not stated. It is reasonable to assume, however, that the fertile valleys of rivers which drain into the Pacific contributed their share.

What will be noted, however, is the fact that export of iron products declined sharply. Admittedly the principle need of many nations at this time, and particularly prior to this year's harvest, was food in all forms. Yet it seems evident that when the immediate problem of avoiding starvation has been solved, the requirements of importing countries will run heavily to manufactured goods, specifically machinery required to increase the productivity of their own fields. Exports for the first half of this year indicate that Canada's western portals are well known to nations which will be calling for more and more of the tools to effect reconstruction as time goes on. The situation presents an opportunity and a challenge to this province to see that more and more of these saleable commodities are produced here for shipment in volume to those nations which need them. The trade lanes are open from British Columbia and, to stretch a metaphor, it is up to the people here to see that they do not become clogged with seaweed through indifference.

SOUTH WEST AFRICAN MANDATE

PRIME MINISTER SMUTS OF THE Union of South Africa has numerous precedents for his insistence that his Dominion, as the mandatory of South West Africa, should annex that territory rather than place it under the Trusteeship Council of the United Nations. It was certain that both the Indian and Russian delegates would oppose his proposal—India, on the ground that the Union of South Africa is not treating Hindus in Natal as citizens; Russia, because she considers annexation is in violation of the Atlantic Charter. Field Marshal Smuts points out, however, that, of all nations in the world, India is the most caste-ridden and discriminating against her own peoples on religious grounds, while the Soviet Union—for her security reasons—absorbed Estonia, Latvia, large parts of Poland and has taken Ruthenia from Czechoslovakia.

The South African statesman, moreover, established an excellent precedent by stating his country would be willing to submit the whole question to the International Court of Justice to obtain a legal ruling as to the Union's position with regard to this particular matter. For the mandates vary, and contain provisions for federation with the mandatory power—if the majority of the inhabitants so desire.

As an eminent lawyer, a leading world citizen, and supporter of the United Nations, South Africa's "elder statesman" had an exceptional experience with the League of Nations. He was one of the originators of the mandates system, and knows whereof he speaks. His insistence on annexation, incidentally, may have been the means he adopted to open the way to his purpose of submission to the International Court of Justice for arbitrament of such questions as are involved.

THE METHOD BUT NOT THE MAGIC

THE NOTES of a speech by Mr. Churchill, printed on this page the other day, probably proved a little disillusioning to Canadians who supposed that this peerless orator's phrases dripped trippingly off the tongue without preparation, by a process of sheer inspiration.

Actually, it is well known that Mr. Churchill, from his earliest days, rehearsed his speeches, but the exact method of preparation has always remained something of a mystery, and a fascinating one. When he left his notes on the table at the recent Conservative Party convention, and the indefatigable newspaper correspondents purloined and printed them, the mystery was partially solved. Mr. Churchill not only contrives his great phrases by secret labor well in advance of delivery, but lays them out on paper almost like notes of music to guide the tone of his voice, the rise and fall, the pause and sudden climax, the whole cadence which the world knows so well.

AS USUAL, then, the work of genius turns out to be mostly work. The great Churchillian phrase, "blood, sweat and tears" came itself out of that very process, but the mark of its greatness, as of any piece of art, is its apparent spontaneity. Just as Michelangelo's paintings look as if they had been tossed off effortlessly in a casual moment, Mr. Churchill's speeches always seem to be born only when the speaker rises to his feet. The great difference between Mr. Churchill's oratory and that of other current statesmen is that it shows no traces of its laborious origin.

Even when the mechanics of Mr. Churchill's art are finally revealed the real mystery of it remains, and this is true of all art. Michelangelo could explain his methods to his pupils but the inner magic could never pass from him to any other man.

MR. CHURCHILL can see his notes photographed and printed but he need not fear his secret has been broken. He holds a copyright which none can violate. It is recorded in a registry office to which only one man can ever hold the key. And the odd thing, the core of the whole mystery, is that he could not produce or identify the key even if he wanted to.

As Carlyle said, no artist could ever explain a masterpiece or even understand himself how it was accomplished. Indeed, if the process is understandable, said Carlyle, we may be sure it will produce no masterpiece. To this problem Jeans, the great astronomer, sought to apply the law of mathematics, with his celebrated theory that if enough monkeys were set before enough typewriters long enough, they would, finally, by mere chance, produce all the works of Shakespeare. But the point is that they don't. We need not expect, therefore, because Mr. Churchill's private arrangements have been published, that any other orator can use them with his success.

JUST THE SAME, it will do Canadian public speakers no harm to try. Even though they cannot hope to equal the original model, they can learn much by imitating Mr. Churchill's willingness to labor, to edit and re-edit, to polish and re-polish.

The speeches of our Canadian Parliament show little evidence of this artist's zeal. They are slow, pedestrian performances mostly, but this in itself is no serious mark against them. The business of parliamentary government must be conducted at a walking pace, which chiefly distinguishes it from the march of dictatorship.

If it must be a walk, however, if it cannot fly like a Churchillian eagle, it can at least be an orderly walk, down a clear path which the listener or reader can follow. The trouble with our parliamentary speeches is that they do not usually follow such a path. They dash out on all sides like a bird dog. They cover so much ground that the hearer is bewildered. Mr. King, for example, is in the habit of rambling over a hundred square miles in an afternoon stroll, gathering so much firewood, so many odd stones and wild flowers, that in the end his speech is quite borne down by its exhausting burden. So is the audience.

THE GREAT SPEECHES which live in men's memories are seldom long and always simple. They lay down a straight line of advance and follow it, without deviation to the end. This, as in painting, is the first requirement of art. In our Parliament the artist seems to imagine that if he can cram enough information, figures, quotations and odd items of learning into the pages of Hansard then, somehow, they will combine themselves into a speech. Instead, they remain disconnected items only, each perhaps a separate jewel in itself, but how seldom merged into the pattern of a mosaic. The whole purpose of speech, which is to convey a single impact of ideas, is splintered.

"Simplify, simplify, simplify!" cried Thoreau from his woodland cabin. Ah, that orators from village councils to the cabinet chamber would heed this advice! How that would ease the unknown burdens of newspaper reporters, writhing in the grip of unmanageable paragraphs! What a break it would be for a listening public, which sinks daily deeper in the sea of words now lashing with unprecedented fury across the defenceless world!

It is one of the tragedies of the world situation that the Soviet government appears deliberately to prevent intercourse between the Russian people and the rest of the world. —British Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

World Commerce-Issues At London

(Reproduced by special permission of the Whaley-Eaton Service, Washington)

THE ISSUES under debate by the Preparatory Committee of the International Conference on Trade and Employment, now sitting in London, are of fundamental importance to the commerce of the world. Reporting on these proceedings, however, has been characterized by much inaccuracy, and by little understanding. Additionally, the Republican landslide in the U.S. Congressional elections has naturally created an atmosphere of uncertainty as to the continuity of U.S. foreign policy. An authoritative review at this time appears desirable.

The study which follows is based on discussions which have been held with Mr. Hilary Marquand, M.P., Secretary for Overseas Trade in Britain, and his staff, with United States delegates and officials in both London and Washington, and with other informed persons. The purpose of the London Committee is to prepare a draft charter for the International Trade Organization and a version suggested by the U.S. is at present under review; the approved draft will be submitted by each nation's delegates to its government for further modification, etc., etc. In whatever form it is finally agreed, it is certain that this charter will profoundly influence, for better or worse, the international trading arrangements of every participating nation—hence the importance of the present and subsequent negotiations can scarcely be overestimated.

THE PURPOSE of the I.T.O. is the expansion of world trade, in itself a clearly non-controversial aim. As to the methods whereby this can be achieved, however, it is inevitable that there should be differences of interpretation, even of opinion. In the large, these differences will certainly lie between the two major trading nations, the United States and the United Kingdom; though some minor points of controversy will arise elsewhere, for example, in different countries of the British Empire and in other countries concerned with the protection of infant or ailing industries, it is inevitable that the pattern of the whole will be largely set by the two major interests. Such differences between the U.S. and the U.K. have so far come to light, while not large, demand study because of their significance to the whole effort. Russia, though a powerful military force, is at present negligible economically and in any event is not represented in London.

Briefly stated, the American aim is the expansion of world trade through a substantial reduction in existing trade barriers (tariffs, preference agreements, etc., etc.) and the development of a freely multilateral system within which there will be no discrimination and wherein all participating nations will be treated on a basis of equality. It is hoped, through a general code for international behavior—trade, to make it possible for all countries safely to relax their protective restrictions, and this without fear of meeting new restrictions from others. A basic aim, clearly, is the provision of security.

A SUBSIDIARY AIM is "the establishment and maintenance in all countries of high levels of employment and real income . . .", a point of importance because it has been represented that this, while a major British aim, was not an objective of the United States. The words quoted above from the Suggested Charter of the U.S. dispose of this contention. During the course of the London deliberations, much of which have been devoted to discussion by all delegates of the U.S. draft Charter, it has become apparent that both the objectives outlined in the preceding two paragraphs are similarly desired by British participants. There is here, however, a significant difference in emphasis, in that the British regard full employment as a first objective, and believe measures toward ensuring it should take precedence over others. Such a difference of emphasis should occasion no surprise, since it arises naturally from the twin facts that Britain now has a semi-controlled economy and that she must export in great volume to eat. She wishes to take "positive measures" to maintain employment, and so to plan her affairs as "to anticipate fluctuations in world trade"—in other words, to forecast depressions. Such activities are possible, if at all, in a controlled economy to a palpably greater degree than in one as free as that in the United States. Throughout the deliberations in London—and probably far into the future—the difference of emphasis occasioned by the fact that one planned and one free economy are working side by side will result in argument and discussion; there are, as yet, no signs that the differences are so fundamental that anything approximating an impasse is in sight.

be seen that there is still a likelihood of depression, each government can, within reason, take steps in its domestic economy to keep employment high—by deferred capital projects, etc., etc. In the event of shortage of certain currencies, appropriate action may be taken under the Bretton Woods plan. Finally, but as a last resort only, Britain could restrict her imports."

THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL to "eliminate tariff preferences" has been represented in some sections of the British press as an attack on the Empire, and as calculated to destroy the competitive power of the Dominions in world trade. That is not the view held in official circles: When the "horse-trading" stage is reached, next year, Britain, committed to do what she can to expand the totality of world trade, will be prepared to "barter" reductions in her preferences and tariffs against equivalent reductions in tariffs of other countries.

It should be pointed out that the new influence of the Republican party in the U.S. Congress may well modify the American attitude toward tariff and preference reduction. Opposition to bulk and government purchasing in the U.S., hitherto high, will be further strengthened, as a consequence of the Congressional elections. State-trading, however, will continue a prominent feature of Britain's economic relations so long as a Labor government is in power, and will therefore remain a fruitful source of misunderstanding. It is hopeful, however, that London agrees that State-trading should be non-political in character, that it should be based on "commercial considerations", and that it should not discriminate between nations.

WHILE IT IS DIFFICULT to reach a clear definition of what may and what may not be permitted, Mr. Marquand emphasizes that Britain is fully prepared to re-examine any of her deals against which complaint is made, with a view to revision. From the foregoing discussion, it is apparent that the area of disagreement between the United States and the United Kingdom on the constitution and functions of the I.T.O. is not great. No matter how little comes out of the London discussions, or indeed those which follow, the creation of an organization through which nations can discuss their economic problems is a helpful development. If the I.T.O. does no more, it will fulfill this function, and from this there should arise appreciable benefits for the world of tomorrow.

SPORTSMANSHIP AND LIFE

From the London (Ont.) Free Press
An aspect of education which is sometimes denied the stress it deserves was discussed by Syl Apps, captain of the Toronto Maple Leafs, during his address to the father-and-son banquet at the London Y.M.C.A. It is the development of good sportsmanship—the ability to play the game. Time was when sportsmanship was regarded as the prime British virtue, and was one of the British traits Canadians were most proud of. Now less is heard of "playing the game" and more of winning it. Nobody is likely to play games which he hasn't some slight chance of winning, but in any contest there will be as many losers as winners, and it is necessary to prepare for both eventualities.

IMPOSED DISCRETIONS

(Ottawa Evening Citizen)
To members of Ottawa's service clubs this week His Excellency the Governor-General recounted some of his war experiences, dealing particularly with engagements in Burma and North Africa in which victory had been achieved as the result of close co-operation between all three branches of the service—navy, army and air force.

It was a good talk and His Excellency's listeners enjoyed it thoroughly, not least the frequent flashes of keen wit. But somehow one could not but regret that his official position precludes the Governor-General from public discourses setting forth his views on the current scene and not alone the historical one; on matters that is, related to Canada's everyday life.

How interesting, and salutary, it would be to hear from a man of Lord Alexander's wide experience and acute powers of observation just how he judges this country and its people.

MATTEOTTI CASE REOPENED

(Edmonton Journal)
One of the most famous murder cases of the 20th century is back in the news again. The Italian government has announced that it is bringing to trial six men accused of complicity in the murder of Giacomo Matteotti, 22 years ago.

In 1924, when Mussolini was fastening his rule on the Italian people, this Giacomo Matteotti was a constant thorn in his side.

The climax came when it became known that on June 11 he would make a speech accusing a number of prominent Fascists of corruption—and that he had documents to prove his charges. The day before he was to speak, Matteotti was seized on the street and hustled off in an automobile. Two months later his body was found in a ditch a few miles north of Rome.

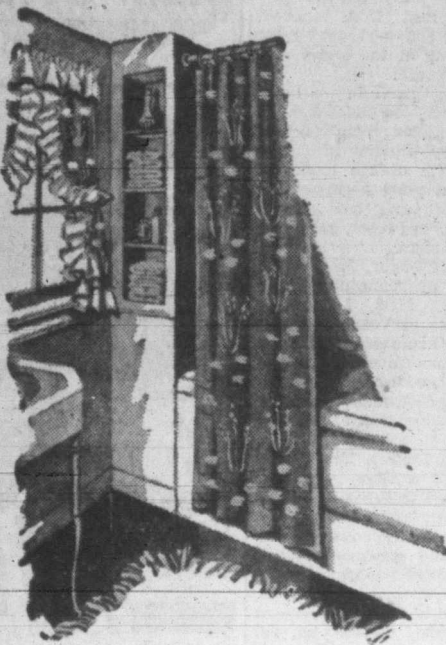

Matteotti's memory, however, has remained green among the Italian people, and ever since the final collapse of Fascism they have urged that his murderers be brought to justice. The Italian government, which has been rather lethargic in dealing with Fascist criminals, has finally yielded to this pressure.

Exchange Vows At St. Paul's

H. H. Creal officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Brown, 418 Mary Street, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Aldridge, 1004 Catherine Street.

Other numbers followed in quick succession. Like a scene from a painting was "Out of the Long Ago,"

Prefers Home To Limelight

COLUMBUS (AP)—Mrs. Janice Pollock today preferred the familiar glimmer of the kitchen range to the tinsel glamour of the "Mrs. America of 1946," title bestowed upon her last week.

The pretty 24-year-old housewife and mother of four won the title in a contest at Jackson, Miss., last Wednesday, but definitely gave up the honor and an accompanying $2,500 prize because acceptance would have required a 20-weeks' tour of the country.

Her place as "Mrs. America" was taken by Mrs. Freddie Acker of Anderson, S.C., who had finished second.

"It was far more important to stay here and be a mother to the children than any amount of glory or money from the contest," Mrs. Pollock said.

Previously, Mrs. Acker, who has one child, told reporters she would gladly accept the title.

James Bay W.A.—A successful tea and sale of work was held under the auspices of the Junior W.A. of James Bay Church. Rev. J. Leadbeater opened the affair.

Assisting in serving were Barbara Garsen, Nan Baxter, Patsy Moore, Joan Logie, Barbara Moffat, Claudia Pomeroy, Vera Limb, Sylvia Crocker, Paddy Jenkins, Marilyn Lamsdale, Priscilla McNeil, Mrs. W. Frew and Mrs. H. Keane presided at the tea table, assisted by Mrs. A. Clarke and Mrs. A. Sarten. Proceeds will be used for mission work.

Women's Council Discusses Problems

The all-day closing of stores and the housing situation in the city were main topics for discussion at a meeting of the Local Council of Women held at the Y.W.C.A. Monday afternoon.
Mrs. Bertha Parsons presided.

Speaker of the afternoon, Mr.
Walter Miles, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, told the meeting that the most important consideration in the matter of all-day closing of stores is whether the people of Victoria want it or not. He also pointed out that "a wartime emergency condition should not dictate a permanent policy enforced closing of stores in peacetime, when merchandise can be expected to be more plentiful."

Consideration should be given to the tourist trade, Mr. Miles said, "for confusion regarding which particular day our shops would be closed would soon result in tourist travel dropping off here."

Mr. Miles urged the local Council to have their members vote on Dec. 12. "The City Council has asked all of us to make known our wishes on the question of shortening the retail week. It is a matter of such importance, we must not ignore it."

Mrs. A. P. Rayment gave a detailed brief on the housing situation in Victoria and stressed the need for action in connection with this problem. Mrs. Hugh McKenzie reported on the beaches and pointed out the need for more action to protect foreshore rights. Miss J. E. M. Bruce told the meeting many organizations and individuals have offered to send gifts and Christmas cards to children in the Mental Home at New Westminster.

A nominations committee was formed and it was decided to hold a bridge and tea at the Y.W.C.A.
on Dec. 4. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael will convene the bridge, and Mrs. Parsons will arrange a musical program.

IT'S TEAMWORK THAT DOES IT...

BEFORE YOU reach the cottons counter, your retailer has anticipated your needs to the limit of his ability to procure supplies.

The greatest of these requirements is quality.
This is an all-inclusive term which covers—among other things—appearance, texture and durability. These are the result of expert knowledge and teamwork all the way from the raw cotton to the finished product. In Dominion Textile mills, the first consideration is the maintenance of established high standards of quality.

Dress Show Bars British Buyers

Glittering evening gowns that seem to have gone back 100 years or so for their inspiration were on show when 150 mannikins displayed the latest British fashions at the Royal Albert Hall, London. Buyers from all over the world attended the midnight parade of the Guild of Creative Designers, the organization of the leading British couturiers, but the British women present could only watch the gowns drift by—clothes rationing still prevents their enjoying such tempting morsels of feminine attire.

GOOD HUSBAND MATERIAL

A group of girls ask me by what signs and tokens they can tell whether a man is good husband material or not. Well, daughters, picking out a husband is always a chancey undertaking that may backfire on you, for most men suffer a sea change after marriage and no wife knows until she has tried living with a husband whether she has gotten a household angel or a domestic devil.

Still and all, there are certain precautions that a girl does well to bear in mind when she goes husband-hunting. For instance, she should concentrate on trying to find out what sort of disposition he has, for that is what she has to live with day in and day out. It isn't enough for a man's manners and morals to be above reproach. Many a pillar of the church is a lousy husband. So don't marry any man until you find out whether he is going to be easy to get along with and make marriage a picnic instead of a purgatory.

ONE WHO LAUGHS

Then pay more attention to a man's funnybone than you do to his having a Grecian nose. Domestic life is full of ups and downs and what you want is a husband who can laugh off little misadventures of marriage instead of raising rows over them.
Also take note before marriage of a man's appetite. If he is a dyspeptic, if he is a food faddist, if he is strong for diets and plain living, go slow about the wedding bells. Stomach ulcers have wrecked more marriages than sirens ever have.

Don't marry Mama's darling unless you are hunting for trouble. You never will have a whole husband. The most you will get is a small part of his interest and affection. Mother will have all the rest and the most you ever can hope to be will be a humble slave trying to pinch-hit for Mama and never succeeding in giving satisfaction.

Don't marry a callow boy. The boy who marries in his teens is just as likely to lose his taste for his wife as he did for gooey ice cream sodas. Pick out an adult man for a husband who knows what he wants in a wife and sticks to his bargain.

Don't marry a man to reform
him. Marry one who doesn't need reforming. No woman ever has been surgeon enough to put a stiff backbone into a spineless man or to galvanize a lazy one into being a go-getter.

MONEY AND HABITS

Don't marry for money, but don't marry any man who hasn't proved that he can support a family. All the love talk about living on bread and cheese and kisses is hokey and the young couples who try it soon delete the kissing part of the menu.

Don't marry a man whose tastes and habits don't jibe with yours. Whether married couples coo like turtledoves or fight like cats and dogs depends altogether on whether they like to do the same things or not. For whether we think a thing is right or wrong depends upon whether it is our dish.

A possessive man who thinks everything he has is superior, just because it is his, and who brags about his car and his dog and his gun is a good bet as a husband because his wife will fall into the same category and he will boast of her perfections.

Generally speaking, you won't go far wrong when you choose a jolly, good-natured, able-bodied man for a husband and, above all,
a hungry man who likes to eat and who makes it worth-while

Christmas Seals For T.B. Campaign Are Now On Sale

Sale of T.B. Christmas seals started today, with the endorsement of Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks, who points out to the citizenry of this province just what can be accomplished in the control of the great white plague if everyone co-operates.

"Tuberculosis still claims the lives of more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease," His Honor said. "One of the major weapons against T.B. has been, and still is, the familiar Christmas seal. Today many millions of these seals are being mailed throughout the province. And again the B.C. Tuberculosis Society is asking for the support of all citizens. In past years seal subscriptions have provided the money for most of the preventive tuberculosis work in B.C. and have been responsible for saving many thousands of lives. This does not mean, however, that the work is finished. We know that tuberculosis can be prevented and we must finish the task so well begun."

"Medical authorities are agreed that by constant vigilance tuberculosis can be stamped out entirely within one generation, and it is with the assistance of the Christmas seal campaign that this goal can be achieved. Everyone can participate in the campaign by buying and using Christmas seals."

Signal Squadron Opens New Field Of Activity

Re-organization of the Canadian Army in the summer of this year opened a new field of activity for Victoria's young men, with the establishment of No. 5 Area Signal Squadron, Royal Canadian Signals.

The new signal unit, with headquarters at Work Point Barracks, started training a few weeks ago. It is a specialist unit, with the task of training its personnel in a large number of signal trades, embracing such interesting activities as dispatch riding, pole-line construction, submarine cable laying and operation of up-to-date communications devices such as teleprinters, automatic exchanges and radio equipment.

The unit's largest radio transmitter is now operating and will soon be heard on the "ham" bands in addition to the army net. With its modern equipment the unit expects to be able to contact most of North America and looks forward to talking with amateur operators on other continents.

The Officer Commanding, Major Garth Griffiths, an electrical engineer with considerable radar experience, is enthusiastic about the avocational opportunities the unit offers to the city's young men. "Rarely," he says, "is it possible for an organization other than a commercial school to offer such excellent opportunities for handling modern communications equipment. The 'day-vagging' days are over," he said, adding that experience gained on the type of apparatus held by the new unit can have direct application in the vocational field.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

This work is being supervised by three woodworking instructors and the boys are making toys for the Solarium. Percy Riddle is in charge of the club and also instructs in the wood carving class. Maurice Pickering takes some of the boys in photography classes.

The Lions Y.M.C.A. club members will be taught totem pole carving by Dr. Carl and will be afforded classes in photography and radio building later on.

Peter Spence spoke to about 100 members of the Esquimalt High School on the possibility of forming a chapter of the H-Y Club in their school. He also reports he is organizing a Prep Saturday morning club.

The older boys' Pacific Northwest International Leadership conference at New Westminster has been postponed to Nov. 29, 30 and Dec. 1. Mr. Spence reports that 15 Victoria boys will attend. Arnold Ramer, "Y" general secretary, will be the key speaker.

The basketball school Monday and Thursday nights is being well attended and Ollie Goldsmith is doing good work in coaching.

G. F. Currie now has 29 men enrolled in his weight exercise classes. With more bars available now he is pleased with the progress of the club.

Track and field enthusiasts are training Thursday nights under Bruce Humber.

WHY MUST YOU FIND A JOB, MOM?

WHEN a bereaved family is left without income, someone must find the means of paying for food, clothing and shelter. Often this responsibility falls on shoulders quite unfitted to carry it.

Life Insurance is a sure answer to the problem of providing a continuance of income. It enables a breadwinner to provide out of his current earnings for a guaranteed monthly income to replace those earnings in case of need. If he lives long, the same Life Insurance will provide an income for his retiring years.

There is no substitute for Life Insurance for the man who wants security for his loved ones and for himself.

Truck Fleet Available To Rush Canadian Food Cargoes To Alaska

EDMONTON (CP)—About 200 truck drivers from Dawson Creek in northern British Columbia to Fairbanks, Alaska, were available today to rush urgently needed food supplies northward as the federal government released Canadian flour for Alaska residents.

E. S. Patton of Fairbanks, who has spent more than a week in Edmonton trying to overcome rationing and international quota regulations to obtain the supplies, said 14,000 pounds of flour were "ready-to-roll" at Dawson Creek immediately final clearance permits could be obtained. Monday night federal authorities at Ottawa said the permit to move flour to Alaska had been issued. The amount released was not made known.

An additional supply of flour is expected to be moved by rail from Edmonton to Dawson Creek, some 470 miles to the northwest, then 1,719 miles by truck over the Alaska Highway to Fairbanks, Monday Mayor A. H. Nordale of Fairbanks said 100 tons of flour and the same amount of meat were needed. He said the flour supply in the north was expected to run out within three days.

Mr. Patton estimated it would require about one week to move the flour to Alaska and distribute it to residents of the northern United States territory facing a food shortage as a result of a U.S. west coast maritime tie-up.

Although Mr. Patton said he could get 200 trucks if necessary to move the supplies, it is believed fewer than 50 would be required. Large convoys are not expected to be organized as the truckers generally prefer to travel in groups of two or three trucks—especially when the highway is covered with snow.

Edmonton packing plants are understood to have informed Mr. Patton they can supply him with large quantities of meat immediately—arrangements are made to overcome rationing difficulties. At the present time the meat could only be supplied by the presentation of meat coupons.

A dispatch from Ottawa said it was understood negotiations were underway between federal authorities and Washington with a view to the dispatch of Canadian meat to Alaska to meet a scarcity of that food.

Surveyors have almost completed the contour plan for the line of the proposed 36-inch main from Japan Gulch to the Humpback Reservoir, Ald. J. A. Worthington, chairman of the water board, said today. It is hoped that an estimate of costs will be ready by the end of the year.

McGeer Asks Hart To Study Vancouver Before Ottawa Trip

VANCOUVER (CP)—Senator G. G. McGeer, former Vancouver mayor standing again for that post in the forthcoming civic election, said in a campaign speech Monday night Premier John Hart should investigate Vancouver's condition before proceeding to Ottawa Sunday to seek a better financial deal for the province.

Senator McGeer said he had sent a letter to Premier Hart urging he "examine the deplorable conditions of Vancouver streets and lanes" and telling him "more than 34 per cent of the homes in Vancouver are without sewerage accommodation."

The Senator said the letter had further noted that during the last fiscal year the provincial revenues totaled $30,000,000, and of this $13,000,000 was collected in the city of Vancouver. But less than $865,000 had been repaid to the city despite the fact that in 1931 the return was $1,412,000 and in that year the provincial revenue was only $24,000,000.

Ricardo Acquitted By Assize Jury

A verdict of not guilty was rendered Monday by an Assize Court jury in the case of Don Alvarado Ricardo, 38-year-old painter, who faced a charge of intending to rob William Wakeham, a Victoria taxi driver, July 24.

Evidence at the trial revealed that Ricardo pulled a toy gun on his friend, Wakeham as a practical joke. The evidence was corroborated by Wakeham, who testified that Ricardo did not take any money from him when he stopped him at the corner of Broad and Yates Streets. He said he reported the incident to the police because Ricardo had been drinking and he was afraid he might get into trouble.

Earlier an Assize Court jury disagreed on a verdict in the case of Chow Quan, charged with attempting to bribe a police officer in the execution of his duty. Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane remanded the case until the end of the assizes for retrial.

Aged Removed When Fire Burns Home

Blind, deaf and paralyzed tenants of an aged persons' home at 1377 St. David Street were removed to the ground floor of the building when a fire in the roof broke out Monday evening.

Oak Bay firemen had the blaze under control within a few minutes, after which they praised Mrs. W. Cameron for her quick action in removing nine aged people from the upstairs floor. "Luckily it was not as bad as it could have been," they said of the fire.

The fire is believed to have been caused by faulty electrical wiring.

HAVE YOU ANY RUPEES IN YOUR PURSE?

Mrs. Blair has been talking for months about buying a real Indian shawl. But wouldn't she be surprised if she found it priced in rupees! That it isn't, is due in large measure to the services rendered by your bank.

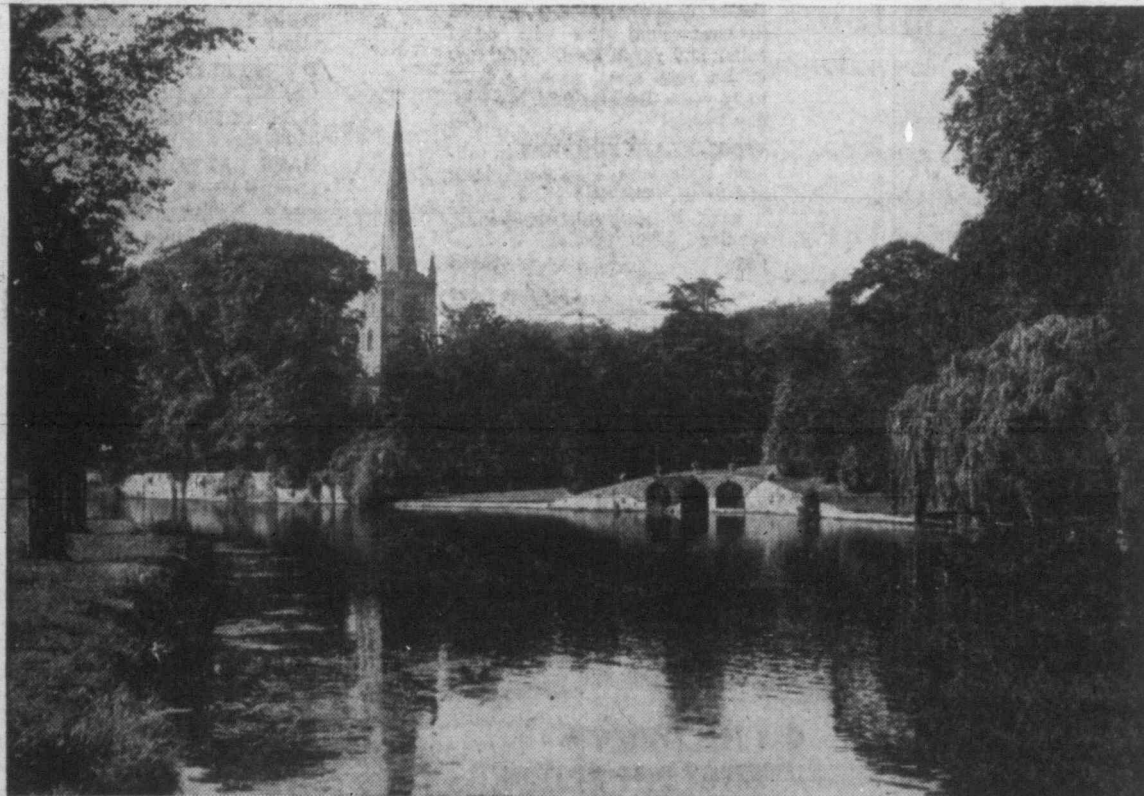

When you buy imported goods in Canadian stores, you pay in Canadian dollars—but the people who made them were paid in Indian rupees, British pounds, French francs...

It is the same in reverse with exports. You may be one of the three out of every eight Canadians who make their living through goods sold abroad. If so, you receive your wages in dollars, but your products are sold in all sorts of foreign currencies.

Arranging the complicated exchange and transfer of foreign funds in such transactions is but one of your bank's many services enabling Canadians to buy and sell abroad.

School Attendance 10,338 In Greater Victoria Area

Attendance in Greater Victoria schools has now risen to 10,338, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, chairman of the education committee, reported to Monday's meeting of the Greater Victoria School Board.

This includes 6,897 elementary pupils, 2,305 at high schools, 554 at junior high school, and 582 at Victoria College.

To accommodate the large enrolment of 1,295 in the night school, attending 56 classes, which covers 42 courses, it has been necessary to hire extra instructors.

Approved by the School Board Monday were John R. Meredith, high school subjects; Henry Watson, bookkeeping; Miss Nancy Ferguson, physical training for teachers, and L. Matthews, cabinet making.

Other appointments were Mrs. Irene D. Woods, to be relieving teacher at Monterey, Willows, Margaret Jenkins and Sir James Douglas Schools; Mrs. Agnes Taylor to Esquimalt elementary school for one month, and Mrs. G. A. Vantreight as part-time physical education teacher in Oak Bay High School.

Maj. R. H. Green questioned the appointment of all married women, but J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, stated there were no single teachers available in Victoria and that these were all temporary appointments. "So long as it's only temporary, I don't mind," Maj. Green said, "but I don't want to see us get away from our former policy."

Transfers approved by the board were Mrs. Margaret Johnson, relieving teacher to Willows School; Miss Kathleen M. Thompson, from Willows School to Mt. Douglas High School as commercial teacher, and H. D. Gibb from Mt. Douglas High School to Mt. View High School.

Province Asks Schools To Prepare 1947 Budgets Now

The Greater Victoria School Board has been asked by the superintendent of education to prepare the 1947 budget for those portions of the district that are in rural areas, "to make the necessary requisition upon the provincial assessor by Nov. 30."

On the recommendation of Maj. R. H. Green, chairman of the finance committee, the secretary-treasurer, T. L. Christie was instructed at the school board meeting Monday to prepare a tentative budget on ordinary expenses for 1947 and to requisition the provincial assessor on the rural areas' share of this tentative budget.

Maj. Green also suggested that the Department of Education be informed of the impracticability of preparing a true budget by Nov. 30 for the following calendar year.

As a result the board will ask that the act be amended so that it coincides with the deadline date, Feb. 15, fixed for submission of estimates to the municipalities.

Want Health Board To Meet Evenings

Because Trustee B. Caley, Esquimalt School representative on the Union Board of Health, is unable to attend morning meetings, the Greater Victoria School Board Monday night decided to renew its request to the health board to change the meeting time to the evening.

The health board informed the school board that morning meetings were more convenient to the majority of the members, but Mr. Caley protested that this was denying Esquimalt schools representation on the health board.

M. A. Edmunds commented it was a shame to restrict the membership of such a body to those who had retired from business life, and Austin I. Curtis, chairman, remarked that "it's the same as a young man trying to run for City Council. He can't spend the time at constant morning and afternoon meetings."

Hire Electrician Despite Protest

Maj. R. H. Green protested Monday evening at the Greater Victoria School Board meeting against the board hiring A. F. Smythe, apprentice electrician, to do the school electrical work.

The hiring of Mr. Smythe was recommended by M. P. Paine, chairman of the building and grounds committee, at the instigation of the city street lighting committee, who offered to transfer the services of Mr. Smythe to the school board, and in addition give further assistance of journeymen electricians for jobs too complicated for the apprentice to handle.

Mr. Paine insisted that Mr. Smythe could do all the work necessary, but Maj. Green feared that the board might be involved in any error or accident occurred and it was made known that no journeyman electrician was supervising the work.

Mr. Smythe was finally hired after considerable argument. The building and grounds committee also reported that the work of reconditioning Craigdarroch and transferring all school board offices there would be commenced immediately.

Payment Of School Levy To Be Talked With Oak Bay Soon

The Greater Victoria School Board will endeavour to arrange a meeting with the finance committee of Oak Bay Municipal Council to discuss the question of Oak Bay paying its share of school costs for the Greater Victoria school district, it was decided at a school board meeting Monday.

Representatives of the Department of Education and Department of Municipal Affairs will be invited to attend the meeting in the endeavour to negotiate some agreement whereby the school operating costs will be paid.

In a letter to the school board, R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk of Oak Bay, stated that Oak Bay Municipal Council did not feel it had the power to pay the $40,808 requisitioned because it was more than the remaining portion of the 1946 school levy. He also stated that the board did not have the power to apportion school expenses as had been attempted, and consequently the sum would not be paid.

The Department of Education suggested the joint meeting, stating that the department could not take any action in the matter.

Austin I. Curtis, chairman of the board, pointed out that only $8,000 more than the levy was being asked.

Earlier in the meeting payment of an increment to two Oak Bay teachers was approved by the board, because these two were the only ones in their category in the school system not receiving the increment.

Trustee M. A. Edmunds commented, "I presume that the funds will come from Saanich, Esquimalt and city funds?"

School Staffs Ask 12% Wage Increase, Retirement Bonus

Maintenance and janitor staffs of the Greater Victoria School Board Monday requested a 12 per cent increase in wages, on the same terms granted the outside employees of the city of Victoria.

In addition the employees requested that, on retirement, they be given one month's wages, plus holiday pay if holidays had not already been taken for the year of retirement. In the event of an employee dying, they asked that the man's widow be given a similar grant.

These requests were referred to the building and grounds committee for report.

At the same time the registrar of the Department of Labor, informed the school board that the Victoria School Board Employees' Association had been certified sole bargaining agents for this group of employees which includes all maintenance men, engineers, janitors and gardeners.

Turn Down Referendum On Amalgamation For 1946

Representatives of the city, Esquimalt and Saanich, attending an intermunicipal committee meeting Monday, were unanimous in a decision that it would be foolish and probably delay eventual amalgamation of Greater Victoria to hold a referendum this December. Oak Bay was not represented at the meeting.

Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the committee, submitted a report in which he stressed that no referendum should go to the electorate until a full report and study have been made on all phases of amalgamation "on which the people can make an intelligent decision by way of referendum."

He insisted that "with four self-governing units in the area a study should be made by an expert who could not be accused of local sympathy towards any one of them; but he should be of such calibre and integrity as would bring him the confidence of all of them. This would entail expense which should be shared proportionately by all and it is our responsibility to make recommendations to each council accordingly."

SAANICH LINE

Reeve A. G. Lambrick, Saanich, speaking of the delay caused by the necessity of Saanich deciding the demarcation line between the urban section which will go into Greater Victoria, and the rural section, said he felt that once all the advantages and disadvantages of amalgamation had been thoroughly canvassed, "the line will draw itself, because the people will vote as to whether they want to come into Greater Victoria or not, section by section."

He declared that it was "not fair to put a referendum without giving fullest information as to how it will affect the district in which each voter lives."

Councillor Joseph Casey, Saanich, remarked "Let's not delude ourselves. There won't be a lot of benefits accruing, because you can't expect to get something for nothing."

Ald. H. M. Diggon said he felt that the time of amalgamation was drawing nearer, although it would not be wise to put a referendum this December. He cited the Greater Victoria School Board, the Greater Victoria Health Board and the unified transportation system as examples of the growing urge to amalgamate.

NO OAK BAY PLAN

He pointed out that while Saanich was progressing towards amalgamation by obtaining its dividing line, there was "no plan for Oak Bay before the committee yet, and such a plan must be developed within that community itself. It cannot be forced upon the residents from outside."

Ald. Diggon, in referring to criticisms of amalgamation, also commented that "Oak Bay is just as ideal a community as the other three municipalities are willing to make it. Whether we like it or not Greater Victoria is actually one community."

He insisted that the committee should not be satisfied with a partial amalgamation in 1946 but it would be preferable to put in more work and wait a little time and get full amalgamation later.

Commander A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt, said his council was also of the opinion that no referendum should be placed until after a fact-finding commission had submitted its report.

Ald. Gadsden said that he believed when H. Carl Goldenberg submitted his report on provincial-municipal relations it would be found that many of the committee's difficulties had been answered.

The Fifth B.C. Coast Regiment, R.C.A., will parade at 8 p.m. tonight at the Armories.

VICTORIA teams finished on top in two out of three inter-city sport engagements here over the week-end. Dominos, with three of the old guard back in uniform, waltzed to an easy basketball victory over Seattle College Chieftains while Victoria Mustangs lived up to their pre-game boast by knocking over Meralomas in the Big Four Canadian football semifinal. Third engagement saw Victoria United go down to an Inglorious defeat at the hands of St. Saviours.

DOMINOES had too much on the ball for the youthful Chieftains. The visitors were a typical college squad, but their ability to run all night was not enough to offset the experience of the veteran local club. After their offensive had proven about as potent as a wasp in the middle of winter, for three-quarters, Mustangs broke loose in the final quarter to drive through for the winning points. Both clubs disappointed from an attacking standpoint. However, any advantage enjoyed in the first three periods was definitely with the Mustangs.

SOCCER match was a distinct disappointment to the big crowd. United, after grabbing off a two-goal margin in the opening minutes, literally fell apart as the seams as the Saints piled through for six successive counters. Fans showed their feelings with many of them walking out of the park before the final whistle. St. Saviours should not be six goals better than the United and many fans declared quite openly they would stay at home until the local club shows some improvement.

NATIONAL Hockey League teams have played eight times this year, with Boston taking part in five of them. Home teams have won 18 games with the visitors copping the decision in 10 contests. Leafs are the most potent away from home aggregation as they have taken three out of town contests. Detroit have yet to win one away from home, whereas the Canadians have only captured one on the road. The home rink has its advantages to the goal getters as well with the hosts counting 118 tallies to their visitors 101.

NORM BAKER is en route back to the Pacific Coast. The former Dominos' star has thrown up a chance to play with Chicago Stags in favor of throwing in his lot with the Vancouver professional club. Baker gives as his reason a 48-hour release clause in the contract offered by the Windy City outfit. I doubt if that was the only drawback. Baker, being a Canadian, faced a tough proposition breaking into a club composed of American stars. Until such time as I can have a personal chat with the "Swede" no further comment on his actions. His decision to join his former teammates, Art Chapman, Doug Peden and Porky Andrews on

Canadian Racing Followers Wager $48,667,744 For Healthy Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian horse racing fans dug deep this year and wagered $48,667,744 to put the first postwar betting season only a few strides behind the 1925 total of $49,867,765, top figure during the free-spending "roaring 20s."

The Agriculture Department said today the $48,667,744 pari-mutuel betting was during 305 days of racing at the 33 meetings of 27 racing associations. In 1925, 33 racing associations held 344 days of racing.

The Dominion's composite bet in 1946 increased $6,474,486 over last year's. More prize money was paid this year, too—$1,515,090, compared to $1,588,345 in 1945. Twenty-six associations held 35 meets totalling 307 days in 1946.

Ontario fans bought more of the pasteboard tickets than the racing devotees of all other provinces—and were rewarded with the biggest single pile of prize money. In 116 days of racing, Ontario tracks paid $912,300 in purses and the chalk players bet $30,714,144.

WOODBINE LARGEST.

Canadian Legion Edge K.V.'s To Take Second

Canadian Legion hoopers took over second place in the senior A league race at the Victoria High School last night as they turned in their second one-point victory of the season over Harold Turner's young K.V.'s five, 38 to 37.

It was a tough loss for the Kayvees who saw their seven-point half-time lead wiped out in the third canto when the veterans tallied 11 points without a return. Down seven points with only two minutes to go K.V.'s staged a great rally, to push in three quick baskets, the last one coming seconds before the final bell, but their valiant effort fell one point short of tying the score.

Hank Rowe with 15 points, 11 of them coming in the final period, topped the scoring brigade for the Legionnaires, while Ron Castner and Fred Ranson, with 15 and 10, respectively, provided most of K.V.'s scoring power.

Jack's Meat Market took a 34 to 30 decision from Chinese Students in a senior C match that saw the lead change hands several times in the final 20 minutes. Dobbie with 12, was high man for the winners, while Mar led the losers with 16.

In a junior match, Oak Bay Athletic Club defeated the K.V.'s 24 to 16.

"But I know this much," he added, "I have more money to take home to my wife and two children in Italy than I had when I boxed."

Order Mustangs To Travel Or Default Final

The Lipton Cup final match for Canadian football supremacy will be played in Vancouver Saturday, come rain, shine, snow or fog, and if the Mustangs don't put in an appearance they will lose by default, is the gist of a report coming from officials of the Big Four in Vancouver last night.

Wally Smith, Mustang manager, stated this morning, following a telephone conversation with President J. H. McRae after the ultimatum had been delivered last night that the locals would stick by their decision and players and executive were unanimously decided that they would not travel to the mainland for the game.

Smith also said that the Mustangs went to a lot of trouble and expense to stage the semi-final match here last week after Meralomas had apparently defaulted the game the previous week when they were unable to field a team for a game on Remembrance Day after failing to show up on Nov. 9, the originally scheduled date.

In the other semi-final match between V.A.C. and Buckaroos it was reported that there were only 11 paid admissions, and Wally Smith in his telegram to the Big Four executive Monday, stated that if the final was in Victoria they could at least draw more than 11 customers.

President McRae is meeting with the V.A.C. club officials today in an effort to straighten out this seemingly impossible situation, and a decision is expected tonight.

Anglers who wish to brave the current cold, snowy weather are assured of good sport.

Canadian Fighter In Smart Knockout

BOSTON (AP)—After being flattened twice, Jack (Spider) Armstrong, 130½, of Toronto, last night scored a sensational knockout over the much younger and stronger Raul Zenit, 137, of Mexico City, in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round feature.

The Canadian veteran appeared on the verge of being belted out in the seventh when he went down for a two-count, bounced back fighting mad and, after squaring the round, was battered to the canvas by blows struck after the bell.

The delirious crowd of 2,197 was in such an uproar that Zenit rated a pardon for his overtime punching, mostly to the body.

In the ninth the Spider whaled away for 45 seconds without a return before the Mexican toppled over backwards, remaining down long after the referee Tommy Rawson reached his 10-count.

Kenny Reardon, Canadiens' aggressive defenceman, leads the penalty parade with 29 minutes spent in the cooler while Hal Jackson of Detroit is right behind him with 27 minutes in the box.

Toronto Maple Leafs are atop the league standings with 17 points made up of seven wins, three ties and one loss. Canadiens are in the second spot with 15 points, two more than the third-place Boston Bruins.

It was the second traffic accident in the city involving a pedestrian in two days. Mrs. Ellen B. Payne was fatally injured when struck by a car at Fort and Vancouver Streets Sunday night.

In last night's accident, Lowe's left shoulder was dislocated, the left side of his face was smashed and he suffered from shock and bruises when thrown to the pavement on being struck by the right fender of the car.

The car, police reported, was driven by A. C. Gardner, 2909 Harriet Road, who was traveling in a southerly direction on Quadra Street at the time.

Island Suffers Shortage Of Eggs Despite Gain In Hen Population

Many reasons were given today for the lack of 750,000 eggs which Vancouver Island needs weekly.

Despite the fact that it is believed there are 50,000 more hens on the Island today than at this time last year one Dominion government egg man said he believed the Island needed 150,000 more birds. He did not wish to hazard a guess as to the number of hens there are on the Island.

Part of the shortage is caused by poultry producers having kept their old hens too long. The result is that young birds were not housed early enough.

The lumber shortage is partly to blame too, since many poultry producers raised more birds than they could handle with their chicken house accommodation. They had hoped to erect new houses during the year but were unable to complete them because of the shortages of lumber and other building supplies.

At the same time poultry producers have been complaining about the feed for their poultry. The protein content of poultry feeds was cut some time ago.

MAY CURTAIL EXPORT

In Vancouver where it was reported the egg shortage this winter might result in the possible curtailment of shipments to Britain, a spokesman for the Western Canada Produce Association said feed dealers now were using reserve holdings of chicken feed and no replacements were coming forward.

This spokesman said dealers had recently arranged with lower mainland producers to reduce the protein content of poultry feed by 5½ per cent to maintain supply pending a statement of policy from Ottawa in respect to the allocation of vegetable protein across Canada.

Egg production in the Kootenays was reported to have fallen off by 10 per cent.

A. Godfredsen, president of the Kootenay Co-operative Poultry Association, was reported in a dispatch from Trail as saying that the Kootenay district egg production would drop 50 per cent by Christmas if nothing were done to make more meat scraps and fish meal available.

Eighty per cent of the eggs produced in British Columbia come from the Fraser Valley district, while Vancouver Island is probably the second largest egg-producing area.

Recently a shipment of more than 3,000,000 dozen eggs was sent from New Westminster to Britain. This shipment was not blamed for the current shortage since it was made up of eggs gathered during the summer and held in cold storage since that time.

Douglas Plaque Unveiling Tonight

A plaque, honoring Sir James Douglas, British Columbia's best known pioneer governor, will be unveiled at 8 tonight at the entrance to the assembly hall in the Parliament Buildings.

Inscription on the bronze plaque, prepared by the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, reads:

"Sir James Douglas, K.C.B., the father of British Columbia, fur trader and statesman. In his early life he was associated first with the North West Company and later with the Hudson's Bay Company. He founded Fort Victoria in 1843. By his firm and wise rule as Governor of Vancouver Island, 1851 to 1864, and governor of British Columbia, 1858 to 1864, he laid the foundation of this province."

Receiving the plaque for the provincial government will be Education Minister G. M. Weir. Performing the ceremony will be Mrs. Fitzherbert Bullen, granddaughter of the city's founder.

The ceremony will be attended by members of the Victoria section of the British Columbia Historical Association, headed by Maj. H. Cuthbert Holmes, president.

Following the ceremony the association will hold a meeting in the Provincial Library at 8:30 at which Dr. W. N. Sage, head of the department of history at the University of British Columbia, will present an address on the work of Sir James Douglas.

Will Proceed With Waterwork Plans

The city water board has decided that it will not curtail its construction program awaiting the Cleveland report on the water survey of south Vancouver Island, Ald. J. A. Worthington, chairman, said following a meeting today.

He said that the board was working on recommendations made by F. C. Stewart, who conducted a special survey on the distribution system last year, and estimates are being prepared for submission to the City Council by the beginning of next year.

During 1946, up to Nov. 14 applications have been received by the water department for 614 new installations of water services, Ald. Worthington said.

Of these 404 were for city homes, 53 for Municipality of Esquimalt, 137 for outside districts, eight for the quarantine line, and 12 for Sooke Harbor. Arrangements are being made, he said, for the Pacific Northwest section of the American Waterworks Association to hold its convention in Victoria next May 17 to 20. There will be about 300 delegates in attendance.

Three-Way Smash

Drivers escaped injury but their cars were smashed in a three-way crack-up at Fernwood Road and Pandora Avenue shortly before 8 this morning.

Police reported a car driven west on Pandora Avenue by W. A. Welland, 2616 Thompson Avenue, first was in collision with a car going south on Fernwood Road in control of N. C. Webster, 1730 Haultain Street. The Welland car then was struck by a third car being driven east on Pandora Avenue by A. Harrison, 942 Pandora Avenue.

In announcing his intention to seek re-election, Mr. Hobbs said he will continue to work for the betterment of Ward 3 and Saanich generally.

Grapefruit, Apples On Dealers' Shelves

The first shipment of Texas grapefruit arrived in the city Monday, with other shipments expected regularly during the next four or five months, it was reported today by Victoria wholesalers.

Green-topped carrots are expected from California near the end of the week. First shipment of Courtenay potatoes has arrived, it was reported.

Lettuce prices are expected to rise shortly due to the shortage of greens at this season of the year. Another commodity that is in short supply at present is cabbage.

Okanagan Delicious apples are now in stock. A small supply of Almeria grapes are on hand. Chestnuts are now on the dealers' shelves.

Caravan Tour To Duncan Next Week

The second move of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce's Tourist Trade Group program to allow Victoria businessmen to "know your neighbors better" through a series of caravan tours will be held a week tomorrow in Duncan and district. The first tour took the businessmen through Saanich Peninsula.

The itinerary has been arranged by the Duncan Chamber of Commerce. A glass-top bus will convey the Victorians to Fairbridge Farm School, leaving town at 10:30 in the morning, where they will be joined by the Docking of the Danish passenger-freighter Erria here marks resumption of the East Asiatic Company's service between Victoria and Vancouver, and ports of the United Kingdom and Scandinavian countries, C. C. Busch, Danish consul for B.C., and managing director of the shipping company, said in an interview aboard the Erria Monday.

Danish Ship Here Marks Return Of Regular Service

Here last in December, 1940, the Erria was the last Danish ship to reach B.C. waters during the war. She is now the first to return to these waters.

While here in 1940, she was turned over by Danish authorities to the British government, and during most of the war years sailed under a British flag, although carrying an all-Danish crew.

In 1943, Danish ships again flew the Danish flag, but it was not until July, 1945, the Erria was turned over to her owners who, because of commitments which had to be fulfilled, were not able to put her back on her peacetime service until now.

During the war, she saw most of her service on the North Atlantic, carrying army officer personnel between Halifax and Liverpool. Because of this, her passenger accommodation went virtually unchanged.

SHIPS TO BE REPLACED

Before the war, Mr. Busch said, the East Asiatic Company had four ships operating between here and their other ports of call. Three, the America, Canada and Europa, were lost during the war, but are now being replaced.

The company has bought more ships which are now being fixed up for the North Pacific service. Mr. Busch said. All are fast passenger-freighters, capable of 17 knots.

When she sails from here, the Erria will carry her passengers, which she brought from the Orient, to Plymouth, or Southampton, in the United Kingdom, and to ports in Sweden and Denmark, returning then to London to load for B.C.

The Erria is an unusual ship in so far as her crew is concerned.

Nearly all the deck officers are named Christensen, most of the engine-room officers are Andersens and the majority in the stewards' department are Larsens.

Mr. Busch revealed the East Asiatic Company had purchased stands of timber on Nootka Sound, north of Port Alberni, with the intention of opening them up for logging and lumbering. Company ships will transport much of the lumber but the actual logging operations will be done by Canadian lumbermen, Mr. Busch said.

Traffic Victim Had Been Visiting Son

Mrs. Ellen B. Payne, 62-year-old widow victim of Sunday night's fatal traffic accident at Fort and Vancouver Streets, was walking home from visiting her son when she met death. It was learned today.

The white-haired woman who was employed as a maid at the Dominion Hotel lived by herself at the St. Helen's Apartments, 828 Courtney Street.

She had been visiting her son, Ernest John Payne, 1135 Yates Street, formerly of Colville Road Esquimalt, and had left his house to go home early. The accident happened at 7:45.

The fatal accident will be investigated at an inquest at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor at 10 Friday morning.

Builder Here 40 Years Passes In Manitoba

Harry Stewart, formerly of Victoria, died at Pine Creek, Man., Nov. 13, following a lengthy illness, according to word received here today. Funeral service was held Nov. 16 at Austin, Man.

Born in Ramsay Township, Ont., Feb. 7, 1873, Mr. Stewart spent the early years of his life in Ontario, later going to Manitoba to farm in the Firdale and Wawanesa districts. He later came to Victoria and was engaged in construction work here for 40 years. Two years ago when his health failed he returned to Manitoba.

The annual meeting of the Victoria section of the Alpine Club of Canada will be held Friday at 8 at 625 Elliot Street by invitation of Miss Aylard. Dr. W. E. M. Mitchell will be in the chair.

Duncan group. Following a tour of the farm, the caravan will proceed to Duncan and district and make short calls at old and new developments in that area. Victoria members wishing to make the tour are asked to get their reservations in not later than Saturday.

To Explain System Of Priorities

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, today in a wire to Mayor Percy George suggested that a meeting be arranged with lumber and other building materials suppliers at which the operation of the priorities system would be explained to them in detail by the Victoria priorities officer and a Vancouver representative.

This was in answer to a telegram sent by the City Council to Mr. Howe asking that the rating of priorities be clarified, so that local suppliers would understand that veterans with their homes 50 per cent complete have the same priority as government housing projects such as War-time Housing, Housing Enterprises, Veterans' Land Act, and Soldier Settlement.

It was felt by the business, trade and re-establishment committee, under the chairmanship of Ald. B. J. Gadsden, after interviews with many suppliers here, that the priorities system was not fully understood.

Mr. Howe pointed out in his wire to the mayor there is "no priority as between projects." He also said that copies of the order had been sent to all suppliers in Victoria and priorities regional representative undoubtedly discussed the matter with most suppliers in Victoria.

T. F. Flahiff, timber controller, also sent a telegram to Mayor George pointing out that veterans who have their homes 50 per cent or more completed can obtain assistance from priorities branch of the Department of Reconstruction, and it is not necessary to set up a special allocation for them.

This was in answer to a request from the City Council that the timber controller send a special directive to lumber mills in this area providing for a first priority to veterans with their homes 50 per cent completed, over any other building, for a period of 90 days.

Halifax M.P. Dies Leaving Liberals With 124 Members

OTTAWA (CP)—The death of William Chisholm Macdonald, Liberal Member of Parliament for Halifax, leaves the Liberal Party with 124 seats in the Commons compared with 119 held by the combined opposition.

A by-election is scheduled for Dec. 23 to fill the one other vacancy, in Richelieu-Verchères, Que. The vacancy was caused Oct. 20 by the death of Hon. P. J. A. Carlin, Independent member for that riding.

The present standings give the Liberals a four-vote majority in the Commons, since the Speaker, Gaspard Fautoux, a Liberal, does not vote. The standings: Liberals 124, Progressive Conservatives 67, C.C.F. 28, Social Credit 13, Independent 4, Bloc Populaire 2, Independent Liberal 1, Independent Progressive Conservative 1, Independent C.C.F. 1, Union Des Electeurs De Quebec 1, Labor-Progressive 1, vacant 2. Total 245.

While the listing shows Union Des Electeurs separately, the member, Real Caouette, recently elected in the Pontiac by-election, has said he will generally support the Social Credit party. The lone Labor-Progressive member is Fred Rose of Montreal-Cartier who retains his seat pending hearing of his appeal of a six-year sentence in connection with espionage charges.

McAdam Receives C.M.G. From King

LONDON (CP)—W. A. McAdam, agent-general of British Columbia in the United Kingdom, today was made a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George for his services to his province during the war.

Mr. McAdam was one of 250 men and women who received decorations from the King at an investiture in Buckingham Palace featured by the awarding of the George Cross, highest empire civilian award, to Mrs. Odette Sansom, a French underground worker during the war, and Dr. Albert Guérise, a Belgian underground worker.

Mrs. McAdam and their daughter, Mrs. Enid Walker, wife of Lt.-Col. Michael Walker of the Royal Artillery, attended the investiture of Mr. McAdam.

Mrs. Sansom refused despite Gestapo torture to divulge the name of her British commanding officer. She said "the price I paid was very small for such an honor and such a reward."

The price she paid was having her toenails pulled out and her back branded with hot irons during months of Gestapo imprisonment. With her at the investiture was Capt. Peter Churchill, the commanding officer whose life she saved by denying his identity and representing him as her husband. They are to become actual man and wife as soon as her marriage to another Englishman is dissolved.

Schubert Club Will Give 100th Recital

The Schubert Club, now in its 24th season, is busy preparing for the 100th recital, which will take place at Metropolitan Church on Dec. 3. This choir has been very successful at festivals in British Columbia and also in Seattle. All programs are entirely memorized and the choir is noted for exquisite tonal balance.

Assisting artists will be Marie Hardwick, violinist of Vancouver, and William Inglis, also from Vancouver, both well known here. Edgar Holloway, organist will be heard in a group of organ solos.

Murder Hearing Set Nov. 28 At Alert Bay

B.C. Police headquarters here today reported the preliminary hearing of Davis-Houston, 28-year-old half-breed Indian, charged with murder of Mrs. Beatrice Smith, had been set for Nov. 28 at Alert Bay before Stipendiary Magistrate A. H. Wastell.

The body of Mrs. Smith was found Nov. 3 in the room she occupied at the floating logging camp on Belize Inlet, 50 miles north of Alert Bay.

Veterans May Get Nanaimo Army Huts

NANAIMO (CP)—It looks as if veteran picketing of Camp Nanaimo to prevent demolition of 30 huts which veterans need for housing will not now be necessary.

A telegram from G. H. H. Elmsmore, War Assets Corporation, Montreal, to Capt. C. Stronach, secretary of the Canadian Legion branch, and received today indicated that War Assets made a technical error in a Nov. 14 message saying the 30 huts had been turned over to Housing Enterprises, a Crown corporation, for demolition and removal. The huts are still unsold, and prior to sale consideration will be given Nanaimo veterans' needs.

4th Arrest Made In Mail Thefts

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police today made a fourth arrest in connection with alleged theft of pension and other government cheques from the mails.

Mrs. Roberta Gosling, 26, was taken into custody and charged with conspiracy.

A 46-year-old mail carrier, William Taylor, was arrested last week and charged with theft from the mails. Two other men arrested with him, Alfred Gosling and R. J. Haddock, have been charged with conspiracy.

The three men were remanded to Nov. 21 when they appeared in police court last Friday.

Western Macedonia Rebels Gaining

ATHENS (Reuter)—While Greek regular forces are fighting armed bands on the Greco-Yugoslav frontier, other mountain rebels are gaining control of western Macedonia, it was reported here today.

The rebels have extended their "free zone" in the Grevena area, where they now control 100 out of 104 villages, it was learned.

The rebel bands in this area are reported led by two former schoolmasters whose names are given as Ipsilantis and Lassanis. "Free zone" headquarters are in the village of Anthrakia and Melissa. The rebels, according to reports from Thessaly, are issuing their own newspaper.

Many Gift Parcels Going Overseas

Local department and grocery stores have reported an increase over last year in the number of gift parcels being sent to the United Kingdom and the Continent this Christmas.

Majority of the parcels average about eight to 10 pounds, with raisins, tea, dried eggs, hot chocolate, soup, dates and fruit juice being the most popular of the food items being sent. Very few rationed articles are being sent, it was reported.

One large concern reports sending about 25 parcels a day to the United Kingdom since the summer. Another firm states it has been swamped with gift orders during the past six weeks. Chocolate bars, cakes and Christmas puddings are very

Colorful Character Serves As Adviser

"Stovepipe" Pete Jenkins, long-time character in Los Angeles famous "Skid Row" district, hangout of down-at-heel personalities, turned film technical adviser recently.

He was recruited by Hollywood scouts in front of Uncle Tom's mission, where he boasts that at home time he has "sung for his supper" no less than 100 times.

"Stovepipe" Pete helped director William Castle recreate "Skid Row" and all its characters for Columbia's Warner Baxter starrer, "Crime Doctor's Man Hunt," with Ellen Drew and William Frawley, which is now playing at the Dominion Theatre.

RIO THEATRE

The Barbary Coast of old San Francisco, the waterfront of the early '30s, with gambling houses full of killers and criminals, is the scene of Warner Bros. "Frisco Kid," now at the Rio Theatre.

This thrilling tale stars James Cagney as Bat Morgan, in a fitting role for this dynamic actor. He is a very forceful character, so forceful, that he climbs to be the King of the Barbary Coast.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Lovely Jeanne Crain has often expressed the opinion that "it's easier to play a love scene with someone you don't know."

In "Leave Her To Heaven" she played a terrific love scene with Cornel Wilde, whom she had never met before. Now, for the second picture in succession Jeanne is romantically involved with Wilde in 20th Century-Fox's technicolor hit "Centennial Summer," which is now at the Capitol Theatre.

When reminded of her previous comment, and asked whether she had changed her mind, Jeanne answered with a mischievous smile: "Oh, no. But I'm reconciled to the idea that Hollywood isn't very big and strangers are sort of difficult to find!"

PLAZA THEATRE

Several of the weeks spent in research by Director Jacques Tourneur in his demand for authenticity in the making of Universal's technicolor release, "Canyon Passage," were devoted solely to the study of the types of clothing worn in the Oregon country in the 1850's. Every available book, article and monograph on the subject was consulted and dozens of original garments were obtained to be used as models of the costumes worn by Dana Andrews, Brian Donlevy and Susan Hayward, co-stars of the film which is now at the Plaza Theatre.

Where To Go Tonight

ASTOR—"Doll Face," starring Vivian Blaine and Denis O'Keefe.

ATLAS—"Step by Step," starring Lawrence Terry.

CAPITOL—"Centennial Summer," starring Cornel Wilde and Linda Darnell.

DOMINION—Warner Baxter in "Crime Doctor's Man Hunt."

OAK BAY—"Margaret O'Brien in 'Music for Millions.'"

PLAZA—Brian Donlevy in "Canyon Passage."

RIO—James Cagney in "Frisco Kid."

YORK—"Hotel Reserve," starring James Mason and Lucie Mannheim.

Sully Mason Brings Orchestra On Tour

The show will be here for one day only with performances at 4, 6.50 and 8.50.

Sully Mason's new idea in entertainment comes direct from Los Angeles where he played for nine months.

Children's Aid Want Play Facilities For Johnson Street Tots

The Children's Aid Society is concerned about lack of adequate recreation facilities for children living in the lower Johnson Street area, and a discussion about asking for action to provide them took place at the last board meeting.

The family committee, in its report reviewed the policy of the society and considered the advisability of admitting children for foster home placement.

Action is to be taken to refer to the proper authorities complaints received of children playing truant from school and reported attending shows during the school hours.

It was reported that 166 children are in the care of the society, a large part of the expenses being paid by Community Chest funds.

During October, 17 children were admitted to care and nine discharged. Three children born out of wedlock were committed by court order to the custody of the Children's Aid as having no parent capable of exercising proper parental control.

There were 28 cases of protection of children referred to the society during the month and eight unmarried mothers came to the agency for assistance.

The present policy of the society of not taking over children under one month old was discussed and it was decided the policy remain unchanged and the society not assume responsibility for placement of caring for infants under one month.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean presided.

'A Stolen Life' Royal Presentation

Bette Davis returns to the Royal screen tomorrow in Warner Bros. "A Stolen Life," a romantic drama in which Miss Davis plays the most unusual role of her distinguished film career—the dual role of identical twins who fall in love with the same man. The highly dramatic situation eventually culminates in tragedy for one sister, happiness for the other. Glen Ford plays the male lead.

ATLAS THEATRE

The delightful, frothy comedy of petite Claudette Colbert and the dry, sardonic humor of six-foot John Wayne are effectively blended in Mervyn LeRoy's romantic comedy for RKO Radio release, "Without Reservations." Don DeFore heads the supporting cast, which includes Anne Triola, Dona Drake and Frank Puglia, now playing at the Atlas Theatre.

OAK BAY THEATRE

M-G-M's "Music for Millions," which stars Margaret O'Brien at the Oak Bay Theatre, offers an innovation for director Henry Koster. Never before in any of his pictures has he had popular music. In his new one he goes extremist and has a hot jam session! Most of the music, however, is classical.

YORK THEATRE

Clare Hamilton, younger sister of Maureen O'Hara, added a graduate of the Dublin Abbey Theatre School, makes her screen debut in RKO Radio's thrilling romantic mystery drama, "Hotel Reserve," an adaptation of an Eric Ambler novel, now at the York Theatre.

Sharing the romantic spotlight with James Mason, Miss Hamilton turns in a performance that quickly establishes her as a real screen discovery.

Mobile X-Ray Unit To High Schools

Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, reported that the mobile X-ray unit would be available to X-ray the chests of students at Victoria College, Jan. 6, 7, and 8; Oak Bay High School, Jan. 9 and 10, and Victoria High School, Jan. 13 and 17, and asked permission to have it set up. He explained that Saanich high school students had already been done, and Esquimalt would be done later. Permission was granted by the School Board Monday.

$13 A Pound Given For Prize Beef Steer

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's aristocrats of the beef world, having had their day and their time of fame at the Royal Winter Fair here, moved along toward the prime steak category today, worth a good portion of their weight in gold.

Outstanding among these steer kings were Loretta Gem, 608-pound winner of the King's Guineas, an event for Ontario entries, and an 840-pound short-horn steer named grand champion of the fair.

They had barely won their crowns late Monday when they went on the auction block and brought a fair share of a king's ransom at prices ranging from $5.50 a pound for Loretta Gem to $13 a pound for the king of them all, owned by F. W. Reicheld of Jarvis, Ont.

In the King's Guineas event 40 members of boys' and girls' farm clubs showed entries. The winner belonged to John Kinsman of Cromarty, Ont.

Reserve grand champion's laurels went to a shorthorn steer entered by Bob Smith of Brandon, Man., and it, like the grand champion and the King's Guineas winner, was bought by the T. Eaton Company, to be donated to hospital patients.
